

Hitek to Supply SUN Engineering's Specialty Folder Gluer

Kenosha, WI-based Hitek Equipment announces an agreement with Sun Engineering to supply and support their innovative specialty folder gluers.

Kassie Wightman, of Hitek, says, "We have been looking for a high quality specialty gluer for some time now and Sun's machines fit that bill. They are very robust and extremely reliable. Once our engineers saw the machine and its capabilities, they were sold. Sun Engineering has been making gluers since 1965, making them one of the oldest specialty gluer manufacturers around. With their emphasis on designing for their customer's needs, we feel we have picked a great partner."

Hitek will stock parts and have trained service engineers available to support existing machinery. Steve Erickson, of Hitek, says, "We are aware of the location of several machines, but we want to find out who owns the rest. If you own a specialty folder gluer that is made by Sun Engineering, please call us so we can make sure we have the parts and documentation for your specific machine."
